EMINA Reserva 2015

D.O. Ribera del Duero

EMINA Reserva only produces vintages that are suitable for the required quality and has limited production due to the meticulousness and care with which it is made. Double selection of the grapes in the field and in the winery. Fermentation and maceration in stainless steel tanks as well as malolactic fermentation partially in French Allier oak barrels.

With its intense cardinal colour and purple tones, Emina seeks to make the terroir the heart and soul of its wines, as such, Emina Reserva 2015 is an intense black fruit wine, although it has a fresh character of red fruits and earthy minerals, accompanied by soft spices and resinous tones to match the great depth of the soil from which it comes. Tones that are brought about in its 16 months of slow aging in lightly toasted barrels. A process chosen so as not to change the character of the wine. It subsequently rests for another 20 months in the bottle to help perfect its noble tannins, offering an intense, long and very elegant feel in the mouth.

Winemaker: Verónica Pareja

Technical Director: Alberto Guadarrama

2015 Vintage

A mild winter with little rain, followed by a fairly mild spring with moderate rainfall, with budding in the first week of May, with the growth cycle of a typical year. Later, a hot and abnormally dry summer accelerated the cycle, the harvest forward to the last week of September, with an excellent phenolic ripening, a remarkable concentration and extraordinary grape quality due to the low yields.

The vineyard

Made with grapes from south-facing limestone plots along the Douro River, its excellent loamy and clayey soil bed allows the necessary vegetative development for a reserve with an elegant and fresh profile, with the unique concentration characteristics of limestone.
